

DANGER OF COMPLICATIONS WITH GERMANY OVER MARINE PROBLEMS APPEARS NEARER DUE TO RAIDER'S ACTIVITIES

Lost Aviators Win Battle With Death

San Diego, Cal., Jan. 20.—A story of endurance and heroic endeavor against death was written today into the annals of the aviation corps of the United States Army, when Lieutenant W. A. Robertson, Jr., missing army aviator, came back from the dead.

Out in the desert south of the border, a party of men was bringing into Yuma, Lieutenant Colonel Harry G. Bishop, whom Robertson was forced to leave exhausted, and all but unconscious, in the Mexican wastes, before he made his final, desperate try for life and assistance.

Though weakened and worn, neither man will suffer any ill consequences of his experience, after food, rest, and warm clothing have restored them both to health.

To newspaper men at Yuma and Yuma, Arizona, Robertson gave a graphic description of his nine day battle with the desert. After he and Colonel Bishop left San Diego Wednesday, January 10, to fly for Calexico, he said, their aeroplane mounted high in order to cross a mountain range. This swung the machine into a strong current of wind which swept it rapidly southward. The aviators found it impossible to get their location, and when they saw at noon, a large body of water, they both thought it the Salton sea. Instead it was a lagoon far over the border in Mexico, as they discovered when they tried to make a landing because their gasoline was low. In the landing, one wing of the machine broke and made the aeroplane useless. Then it was that the flyers found that, instead of being in their own country, they were 250 miles from San Diego in Mexico.

Abandoning the aeroplane, the two men took all the food they had carried along with them and one gallon of water and started the long hike northward to civilization and safety. Robertson, in his statement, touched only lightly the hardships they had endured—the desolate stretches of country through which they passed and the torrential rains by day and icy cold by night.

Defying physical exhaustion, the two officers kept up their walking night and day. For four days they subsisted on one gallon of water, four oranges and four small sandwiches. Then their water ran out. That was Sunday. The same day Colonel Bishop began to break under the strain. Robertson, too, was weak, but stronger than his superior officer.

That day the men faced square.

CINCINNATI CAR RUNS WILD, 1 DEAD, SEVEN HURT

Cincinnati, O., Jan. 20.—One man was killed and seven persons slightly injured when a street car on the College Hill line ran wild down a hill today and crashed into another car.

The dead man was identified as Jerry Hickens, 76, of Glen Parker and Hamilton avenues.

He had boarded the car a few minutes before he was killed. He was thrown off the rear platform and crushed between the cars.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 20.—Fifteen persons were seriously injured when a street car going at a high rate of speed left the tracks and plunged against the heavy railing of Pleasant Run bridge early today. Fifty-five passengers were on the car. All were bruised and cut by flying glass.

Police declared that the motor-man, John McCray, appeared to have been drinking. He was placed under arrest on the charge of assault and battery. McCray declared that he was sick and had fainted while running the car.

A three foot steel railing on the bridge kept the car from landing in the creek. The car was torn from its tracks and the body extended over the edge of the bridge.

The injured, piled in a struggling mass in the bottom of the car, were carried to a nearby grocery store and given first aid. A split switch caused the car to leave the tracks. After jumping from the rails, it dashed about eighty yards over the ties and pavement before it was stopped by the bridge.

McCray said he came to Indianapolis from Cincinnati and had worked for the street car company about a month.

Bride and Groom Attired in Black—Rode In Black Auto Black Wedding Leaves East Gasping Black Wedding Breakfast Served In Black Room

New York, Jan. 20.—A black wedding, one of the most remarkable ceremonies ever performed in this country and one which made even blase New York sit up and stare, was celebrated at the Church of St. Vincent De Paul here today.

This first wedding of its kind ever planned, made the little-fashion model, Eleanor Klinger, the bride of Ora One, designer.

From the limousine in which they threaded their way among the sky-scrapers to the little church in Twenty-Third street to the handles on the silver service at their wedding breakfast, everything, down to the most minute detail, was coal black.

Even the serving men were black; and every one with any part in the ceremony wore black, including black gloves.

As the big black car whirled up to the curb at nine o'clock, the driver who had a black moustache, twisted the black handle on the door and out popped the little bride and groom. They were dressed in black from head to foot.

Mrs. Eleanor Klinger in her black wedding gown.

One, a handsome, stocky young fellow, a little below medium height, wore a single-breasted black broadcloth suit, cut business style and fitting close.

His collar was black and his string tie and his black silk shirt blended into his black vest.

The little bride, tripping across the sidewalk with her soon-to-be, wore black silk slippers, a black silk dress sparingly overlaid with black chiffon. Her wedding veil was a broad strip of black silk edged and overlaid with black tulle, ending in large bows.

This wedding veil and train are detachable "so" as the bridegroom explained, "it can be used either for mourning or evening."

The bride's corsage bouquet was of black panisies.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. One sped to their black wedding breakfast at the One apartment in Forty-Third street. There One's black valet served black coffee, black bread, black butter, (dyed), black bass, (Continued On Page Six)

Americans May Be Included In Prisoners On Board Prize Ship Taken To Germany

Washington, D. C., Jan. 20.—Danger of complications with Germany over marine problems seemed to authorities today to be nearer than for months past.

Her capture of neutrals and making them prisoners on the steamer Yarrowdale, plus the strong trend of German sentiment toward wider submarine, made these possibilities more ominous.

The official German statement recounting that the missing Yarrowdale, with more than 450 souls aboard, had been "brought into harbor" as a prize—with a number of neutral prisoners—gave rise to a graver concern than anything that has happened in months of ups and downs of a critical relationship.

This government does not know that Americans are among the prisoners, but it is possible some are thus held.

Officials regard Germany as likely to go even more vigorously into the war than in the past, because of the Entente reply to the Wilson note.

American authorities say that a sharper, broader warfare very likely could not avoid infringing on American rights.

Berlin, Jan. 20.—(Via Amsterdam to London)—The British steamer Yarrowdale was brought into harbor on December 31, as a prize by a crew of sixteen men, says an official statement issued last night. She carried 469 prisoners, the crews of steamers captured by a German auxiliary cruiser in the Atlantic ocean.

The prisoners on the Yarrowdale were from one Norwegian and seven British vessels. The cargoes of the captured vessels, the statement adds, consisted principally of war material from the entente allies and foodstuffs.

Three of the vessels sunk were armed British merchantmen.

The bringing-in of the Yarrowdale, the statement continues, had been kept secret for military reasons, but in view of the statement of the British admiralty on January 17, it was decided to make the news public. The prize crew of the Yarrowdale was commanded by Deputy Officer Badewitz.

The official statement follows:

"The English steamer Yarrowdale of 4,600 tons, was brought into the harbor on the 31st of December as a prize by prize crew of sixteen men. She had aboard 469 prisoners, namely the crews of one Norwegian and seven English ships which were captured by one of our auxiliary cruisers in the Atlantic ocean."

"The cargoes of the captured vessels consisted of war material and foodstuffs."

ORDER SWISS

RESERVISTS TO RETURN

Washington, Jan. 20.—Swiss Minister Ritter, acting on instructions from his home government, today issued orders through Swiss Consuls in America, that all reservists on conditional leave are ordered home immediately.

At the same time Minister Ritter was ordered to issue these instructions, he received notification that three additional Swiss army corps are to be mobilized on January 24.

Dr. Ritter said today his government's dispatch declared Switzerland had no fear of any hostile move by either group of belligerents.

The new troops, he believed are to be used to relieve part of the two army corps now mobilized; it was said.

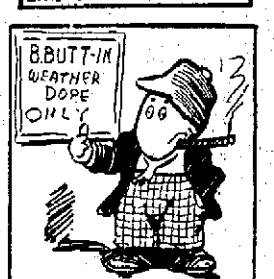

London reports have recently mentioned massing of large German forces on the Swiss frontier and fear was expressed that Switzerland's neutrality might be violated.

MANLY CHURCH

In addition to the usual congregation the children were present in large numbers last night and were given large place in the music, singing several numbers alone, much to the delight of the people. Prof. Weaver and Miss Kennedy sang a duet entitled "Dancing." This was produced with fine effect.

Dr. Grimes departed from the usual method of appeal. He took occasion to review the work thus far and portrayed, not alone the achievements but the failures of the church as well. He recalled the experience of Mr. Moody and cited the completeness of his consecration as the prerequisite to the large usefulness of his life. Walking once with Sir Henry Varley they engaged in conversation in which the distinguished English evangelist said, "Moody, the world has yet to see what God can accomplish with one wholly consecrated man." With characteristic promptness and positiveness Moody stopped short in their walking and, looking up into Varley's face, said, "By the grace of God I'll be that man." It is written large on the pages of history how he moved two hemispheres toward God in his remarkably apostolic life.

While expressing high appreciation of the love and loyalty and faithful support of the good people who are working in this meeting the preacher yet frankly told the congregation that an examination of the church records shows that many are not giving God a chance to demonstrate what He can do and what He assuredly will do with a church with such large possibilities as this one if they will give Him a chance. With impassioned earnestness the call went forth to all present who would yield themselves to Christ to do in this meeting "whatever, wherever, whenever pleases Him." Almost as one man the vast congregation sprang forward and knelt in consecration. For a long time the cries of the people ascended in unprecedented earnestness in answer to which all hearts were touched by the spirit of God and the greatest forward movement of the whole meeting, measured in terms of faith, was realized. A forceful and most telling appeal was spontaneously made by Secretary Rideout, who is the superintendent of the Department of Evangelism of the Minute Men of Manly.

No other altar call than that above mentioned was made during the evening, but when the people went away at a late hour everybody felt that they had been face to face with God.

The minister announced themes for the services next Sunday that challenge attention and for which he urged that prayers be offered "that God might use His own word that there might be many 'slain of the Lord' on that day and that next week's work would mark a new era of achievement and progress in the history of Christianity in Portsmouth. The themes announced are: "The Price of Power" for the morning sermon, and "The Evening" "Commercialism in Soul Values." Decisions for Christ will also again be emphasized in the Sunday school and a large attendance, together with many conversions, may be confidently expected.

Do You Know Little Boys And Girls In This City Really Need Clothing?

Fourth Street School Club Will Gladly Receive Donations and See They Go To Worthy Children.

(BY LOUISE GRISWOLD)

How many of you even know what it was to be really cold? You think you do, when you wear a lighter coat than usual, or when an up-river breeze catches you away from home. But suppose you had no warm undergarments to put on when you got home, nor any dry shoes, to wear on the morrow after you have waded home through four or five inches of slush.

Just such things happen to some of the little ones who attend the Fourth street school. I guess that some of them don't have any bath tubs at home, either.

Mothers and teachers of the Fourth street school's attendants, have for over three years, been banded together to care better for the needy children. At the meeting of this Mothers' and Teachers' Club, yesterday afternoon at the school, I learned how the mothers take turns giving a half day each week, to bathing the children at the school, how they have held "bake sales" to raise money for a shoes and clothes fund, and how much they need more clothes to distribute.

Each Friday, at the school, is "bath day." No, there is no gymnasium class, and the children are not taking preliminary showers. They have a real bathroom, all dry and warm, and clean, on the second floor of the school building. When any little ones seem in need of a bath, they are persuaded by their teachers to go upstairs for a nice warm scrub. Not many want to go at first.

But teacher says: "Just think how much you will help your mamma, by getting the nice bath before you go home."

Sometimes it works, sometimes it doesn't. But usually those who start, soon become regulars. One teacher got a huffy note from home, after first sending a very dirty little boy to the weekly bath, but despite the note, he has been regularly appearing at the school much cleaner than ever before.

Clean underwear is put on the child after bathing. Not more than two sets are given to each child, a season, unless they become badly worn. Some of the mothers "tub" as high as 19 regularly on bath day. Other days there are not so many.

"On bath day this week, one eight year old girl could not be fitted out with clean, new underwear, because all our present supply was too large," one of the mothers told. "We need pants for little boys between ages of 7 and 10 years."

"We need dresses of all sizes for little girls, and some of the smaller sizes of underwear, and we can use coats of all sizes," said Mrs. Lena Brunner Schultz, 601 Seventh street, president of the club.

The underwear distributed at the school has been purchased new. At present the club has very little in its treasury, reported Mrs. Allen A. Castor, 417 Third street, treasurer. At yesterday's meeting, several plans were taken under advisement, for raising funds. Mrs. Schultz, says that the club members would greatly appreciate assistance from any citizens, who may have clothes available for their little charges. One teacher appealed for trousers, cap and overcoat for a boy in her grade, and others report need of shoes for two boys of about ten years who need extra large sizes.

One studious little girl of about 10, small for her age, has been kept out to take care of the house and other children, while the frail mother works out by the day. Teachers have heard that the girl and a sister who works in a factory have one coat between them, and so the little one must stay at home.

One mother of 11 children, who has never had a sewing machine and who makes all her children's clothes, showed her appreciation of the gift of shoes to two of her children by attending a meeting of the club called to sew for the needy children.

No, That "Eight-Five" Of Water Didn't Walk Away, Was Used

A solution has been offered for the mystery as to where went that "eight feet and five inches" of water which was reported to be in the new municipal reservoir several days ago, but the solution did not furnish water to the good housewives living on the hilltop and the tenants of the office buildings in the downtown district, who did not have water for a period of one hour Friday evening.

That "eight feet, five" did not "walk away" nor did it "creep away," as it was first feared, but it was used by the city, say officials.

George T. Shute, chief hydraulic engineer at the new municipal water plant, offered a solution to the "mystery" Friday afternoon. He said, in a statement, that trouble was experienced with the two low duty pumps at one o'clock Friday morning. The pumps operated spasmodically until five o'clock Friday morning, when they were closed down.

"From that time until 12:30 o'clock Friday afternoon the city depended entirely upon the pent up 'eight feet, five' for the water supply," the statement said. At this time the reservoir was drained, Mr. Shute said.

Then at 6 o'clock the pressure at the new plant dropped to 30 pounds, which is minimum and the pressure gauge, indicated until 6:45 o'clock Friday evening, when a 70 pound pressure was attained. Then at 8 o'clock the pressure dropped back to 35 pounds and a half hour later regained 65 pounds which was maintained until 1:30 o'clock Saturday morning, when the new electrically driven pump was placed in operation.

John M. Williams, superintendent of the water works, said Friday, that one of the low duty pumps had been torn down and rebuilt three times during the 24 hours and the other one was torn down and rebuilt once.

The new electrically driven pump, which was installed early

Saturday morning, has a capacity of 4,000,000 gallons per diem, instead of 5,000,000 gallons as first reported. This pump is now operating at capacity.

Mr. Shute said that there was no mystery as to where the water in the reservoir had gone, as what was there had been consumed by the city. The records of the plant, he said, were always open to inspection by the public.

By Monday, if no further trouble is experienced, Mr. Shute says he expects that some water will be pumped into the reservoir.

PROSECUTOR WRITES "CARD" ABOUT "ALLEGED" DEFECTIVE INDICTMENT

Portsmouth, O., Jan. 20. To the Editor of The Times: Gentlemen: If your issue of January 17 there appeared therein in bold face type the following article:

"Strange just what one little word will sometimes do. There was a man indicted before the grand jury on a charge of pointing firearms. His name is A. J. Miller. Wednesday morning Miller was brought into court for a trial. The indictment was read and—

"Well, it was defective and Miller will be a free man until the next grand jury, if it sees fit, drafts a new indictment against him."

The rifle which Miller was alleged to have pointed, diminished to a pistol in the indictment. Then just because this mistake was made by Prosecuting Attorney Joseph T. Micklethwait, a new indictment will be necessary.

Just one little word was the "it" in the indictment and the cause of additional expense. It has been estimated that the expense of indicting Miller was between $50 and $75.

"The same procedure and the same expense will have to be met in preparing a new indictment." The costs of this case were $31.70, according to the record in the clerk's office. As prosecuting attorney I asked for the continuance of this case because of the absence of a material witness for the state and so stated to the court. Whereupon Judge Thomas granted a continuance.

The indictment in this case charged the defendant Miller with pointing firearms. I understand it has been said, hence the above article, that the indictment in this particular case was defective because the firearm pointed, when disclosed by the evidence, would be a rifle and not a pistol. Now since the above question was raised by the foregoing article appearing in your newspaper I have caused this question to be called to the attention of former prosecuting attorneys of this county, Hon. Harry T. Bannan and Hon. Harry W. Miller, as well as to the attention of other lawyers all of whom are of the opinion that the indictment in question is good, because a firearm is always a firearm, regardless of the class, kind, size or calibre thereof, and our courts are yet to hold that the pointing of a firearm at another, if the indictment charges pistol and the evidence proves it to be a rifle, is no offense. Whether the indictment charges pistol or rifle is held to be surplusage and immaterial. The question is did the accused point a firearm.

Ordinarily I pass incorrect newspaper items, but when an article becomes so raw as the one above quoted I feel it is only justice to the office which I represent and the public which I serve to correct the same.

Therefore, when the prosecuting witness, together with the other witnesses for the state appear, as prosecuting attorney of the county I shall insist on this case in question being tried on the indictment as heretofore returned by the grand jury of this county and which indictment is now before the court. There will be no new indictment.

In conclusion would it be asking too much of you, for the benefit of the public in general and the readers of your paper in particular, to state below my signature hereto the name of the one who furnished you the information upon which you wrote the above quoted article which appeared in your paper of January 17.

Yours respectfully,
JOS. T. MICKLETHWAIT,
Prosecuting Attorney of Scioto County, Ohio.

After 57 years of service the Second street school has to go to make way for a modern school building that will be built on the present site this year. The Board of Education at an adjourned meeting Friday evening decided that a new school should be erected in place of the old structure built in 1850. City Solicitor S. Anselm Skelton was instructed to prepare a resolution for the issuing of bonds to the amount of $67,000 to cover the cost of building a school at Second and Chillicothe streets and to pay for a small addition of ground to the McKinley school plat on Kinney's Lane.

Members Jackson, Hudson and Purdue met at the high school Friday afternoon and selected brick and material for the McKinley school. Shade No. 2 Craycraft Buff brick sold by the Portsmouth Clay Products Company were selected. The brick are near the color of the kind in the present high school. John Manville three-ply roofing was chosen. The American Heating Regulation system will be installed. The board also approved the use of Williams Pivot Sash providing the contractor will install the sash without extra charge.

The resignation of Miss Anna Merrill, teacher in the first grade, Highland school, was accepted. The schedule amounting to $909.55 was allowed. The board then adjourned until 7:30 p. m.

The first business of this session was the Second street school matter. Architects Ritter and Bates who drew plans for the McKinley school were instructed to provide a storage tank in the plans. The board will decide later whether the tank shall be installed. The Boy Scouts were granted the use of the high school auditorium on February 15 for a Boy Scout demonstration.

All banks in the city submitted bids for depository for school funds. Each submitted a rate of 2 1/4 per cent on daily deposits. The Central National bank was selected as the active depository. The First National, Security, Portsmouth and Ohio Valley banks were named as inactive depositories.

Miss Laura Braunlin was selected to teach in the high school at a salary of $80 per month. Miss Braunlin is a graduate of Ohio State University. She taught one year of German and music at New London, O., and took a graduate course at Chicago University.

The text book and bookkeeping in the high school business course was changed to the 20th Century Bookkeeping printed by the South Western Publishing Co.

Even Costs More For The Cows To Live

Consumers are not the only ones who are feeling the pinch of high costs. Producers have to take a dose of the same article, as a talk given by a leading dairyman proves.

Says he: "The best dairy-men have found that the best results are obtained from 'Balanced Ration,' consisting of the following:

Crushed corn, to put fat on the cows.
Bran, partly to give bulk to the feed.
Cotton Seed Meal, to furnish the protein.

Lined Meal, as a regulator.
20 to 30 pounds ensilage and 6 to 8 pounds alfalfa hay.

These are mixed in the following proportions:
300 lb. bran; 200 lb. crushed corn; 100 lb. cotton seed meal and 100 lb. lined meal.

It is further found that it is necessary to feed about 1 lb. grain feed for each 3 lb. of milk produced. For a cow to produce 4 gals. milk, about 33 lbs. of feed is necessary to feed it 1 lb. of grain feed, about 25 lbs. ensilage, and 7 lbs. hay.

Now here is where the dairy owner goes up against it. Two years ago bran was $22 a ton; crushed corn, $2 a ton; cotton seed meal, $39 a ton; and lined meal $23 a ton, a total of $107 for four tons.

Today bran is $36 a ton; crushed corn, $42 a ton; cotton seed meal, $35 a ton, and lined meal, $29 a ton, a total of $142 for four tons, or an advance of more than 70 per cent.

When it is further considered that the corn which goes into the ensilage has advanced in value about like crushed corn, it can be seen the dairymen has his troubles also.

TRACKS ARE ALL CLEARED

Trains have not been running on schedule time on account of heavy snows, whooping-cough, colds, etc., but the plan is to operate on time Sunday. With a little effort on the part of everyone concerned, we should all arrive at the U. B. Sunday school, corner of Seventh and Gay, at exactly 9 o'clock. There will be a fine lunch there to welcome all new comers, and the new "Friendly Fellows' Orchestra," under the direction of Mastropaulo, will make its first appearance Sunday morning. Let every U. B. and every friend not in attendance elsewhere come and give the boys an ovation.

This cosmopolitan church and school, with aggressive leaders, is planning great things for the near future. No one is asleep at the switch, and first-class and courteous service is assured. No stop at "abandon!"

ORRIN JOHNSON

in "The Light at Dusk"

A Week of Wonderful Pictures Coming to the Lyric. Everyone A

"Class A" Production

The pictures on the program for the popular Lyric next week are all in the perfect "class"—from Monday to Saturday every one is a production of extraordinary merit. Orrin Johnson in "The Light at Dusk" on Monday is something exceptionally fine, the theme is original, powerful and all absorbing. You will sit through every foot of the six reels with your attention riveted on the screen and when it is over you will go away fascinated and impressed. A better picture has never been shown at any price in Lyric next week and the music is always good. Davison's Trio plays every afternoon and evening.

Mary Nash in "Arms and the Woman" Columbia Tonight
You will find a most excellent picture at the Columbia this evening in the five part Pathe feature, "Arms and the Woman," a special picture production with Mary Nash and H. Cooper Cliffe in the principal roles.
"Arms and the Woman" is an original story by Ouida Bergare and is a story of great interest and strength. It shows a young woman married to a man engaged in the manufacture of munitions destined for use against her own fatherland. Imagine what you would do under such circumstances and then be sure and see what she did in this picture tonight.
Don't fail to take a good look at the Columbia ad for next week in this evening's paper. You will find a real feature production for every day, making without a doubt, the strongest picture program ever offered for one entire week in this city, and a program that would be hard to beat any place.

At The Exhibit

Two two reel pictures form the four reel program at the Exhibit tonight. The headliner is chapter three of "The Crimson Stain Mystery." This episode is entitled "Breaking the Spell" and shows how the star, Ethel Grandin, put under a hypnotic spell is brought out of the spell under trying circumstances. This chapter is more thrilling and sensational than previous chapters. Maurice Costello shares the honor role with Ethel Grandin. "A Trip to Norfolk, Va." is the other two reeler. This shows the beautiful scenery at this seaside town and scenes at Fortress Monroe and other sights. See the disappearing guns in action.

Indian Picture At Arcana Today

Those people who revel in Wild West pictures should be at the Arcana Theater today and see the production, entitled, "Regeneration," one of those thrillers that makes a fellow want to get right out of his seat and scalp every Indian in the play. This is a story of the pioneer days, showing the Indian in all his savage surroundings, his lust to kill and plunder. See the band of Redskins as they circle around the wagons containing the early settlers and slay and rob and steal. It is a wonderful picture, full of the most startling of climaxes, and through it all runs a pretty story of love and devotion. It is a whirlwind from beginning to end, and if you want to see this grand production, be there early. Manager Potts expects to have some wonder pictures on Saturdays—those wild western plays which the patrons love so well, and "Regeneration" is one of the greatest of them all. Remember, the admission is only 5 cents.

At The Temple Tonight

A seven-reel program is offered Temple theatre patrons tonight. One, just one, of the several headliners is "The Yellow Menace," the twelfth chapter being shown tonight. This serial is the greatest of all serials. Be sure to see it. "For the Governor's Chair" is a three part Knickerbocker Star Feature drama and it is as thrilling a detective picture as you ever witnessed. "The Lost Messenger" is a one-reel Kalem drama of tense interest. These six reels form an extra good program, but as an added attraction there is a one-reel Vin-comedy, entitled, "The Man Hunters," a side-splitting number.

At The Temple Monday

"The Island of Regeneration" is a six-reel Blue Ribbon Vitaphone drama that will appear at the Temple Monday night only. Edith Storey, the beautiful screen star, plays the leading role, ably supported by Antonio Moreno. The show will start at six o'clock. The prices will be ten and fifteen cents for this extraordinary offering.

At The Strand

A six reel program is the feature tonight at the popular Strand. The chief attraction is "The Wolf's Nemeses" which is chapter 18 of that sensational Universal serial "Liberty." Marie Walcamp is the star in this serial supported by Jack Holt and Eddie Polo. "Where Is My Wife?" is a side splitting L. Ka comedy in two reels, featuring the great laugh producer Billy Ritchie who reminds one of the comedy star Charlie Chaplin. See Billy Ritchie in his thousand and one funny antics tonight. "When He Came Back" is an Imp drama of modern society life and its pitfalls and perils. "Irma in Wonderland" is a Powers comedy drama.

Brakeman Has Lot Of Trouble

Of local interest the Hamden, O., Enterprise Friday said:

"The loud and incessant clanging of the fire alarm at about 9:30 o'clock Thursday night brought a large number of Hamden's citizens out on the streets. The blaze was located at the home of J. E. Robinson, on South Main street. It is the general belief the fire started from a gas light which had been left burning in the kitchen, the flames being under good headway when the work of subduing them was started. However, all attempts at such proved futile, and spreading to the residence part, the entire building became enveloped and was burned to the ground. The piano and most of the household goods downstairs were saved, but nearly all the effects upstairs, including most of the children's clothing, were destroyed.

"The burned property was valued at $1200 and was insured in the B. & O. Railroad Relief for a small percent of the loss. Mr. Robinson is employed as a brakeman on the Portsmouth district and was some what shaken up in the freight wreck near Scitot Furnace the same day when being thrown from the engine when his train left the rails. Only a few days previous, with his family, he was summoned to Nelsonville to attend the funeral of his father, Jack Robinson."

CASCARA QUININEMEETING WILL BE OPEN TO PUBLIC

The committee of Men's Organized Bible Classes have decided to make the big meeting at Trinity church on next Thursday evening open to the public, and the women will be just as welcome as the men.

Rev. Joseph A. Bennett, of Sistersville, the speaker of the evening.

ing, is an acknowledged expert in Sunday school work, especially that phase of it which deals with the organized class.
In a town of 7,000 population he has a class of men numbering 300. This class not only meets on Sunday and studies the lesson, but they are doing a great piece of social service work in Sistersville, which has attracted attention all over this country. A local man who heard Dr. Bennett recently said this morning: "Bennett is the most practical man on Sunday school work I ever heard of. He is the sort of speaker, and has the sort of message which makes you feel like you can't wait until the meeting is over to get out and get busy." Portsmouth is lucky to have him on next Thursday night. The committee will certainly be disappointed if Trinity church is not packed. They also desire every Sunday school superintendent and every pastor in Portsmouth to announce this meeting Sunday.

This tiny bottle holds the wonder of wonders. It contains an almost magical drug discovered by a Cincinnati man. It is called Freezone. It is a compound made from ether.

Apply a few drops of this Freezone upon a tender, aching corn or a hardened callus. Instantly the soreness disappears and shortly you will find the corn or callus so shriveled and loose that you just lift it out with the fingers.
You feel no pain or soreness when applying Freezone or afterwards. It doesn't even irritate the skin.
Just ask in any drug store for a small bottle of Freezone. This will cost but a few cents but will positively rid your poor, suffering feet of every hard corn, soft corn, corn between the toes, or the rough calluses on bottom of feet. Genuine Freezone has a yellow label. Look for yellow label.

Engineer Killed, Conductor Buried Under Cinder, In N. & W. Yard Engine Wreck

Officials Allege Train Deliberately Wrecked

Cincinnati, O., Jan. 20.—Officials of the Norfolk and Western railroad this afternoon charged that the freight train which plunged from a trestle at Bond Hill today, killing Frank Kaiser, engineer, was deliberately wrecked.

A switch which had been closed a few moments before the train passed had been thrown open, causing the wreck, they charged.

The police were told a discharged employee was seen near the scene of the wreck. Trainmen said they heard some one say: "I'll get even."

One man was killed and another was badly injured when he was buried under a car of cinder and had to be dug out when an N. & W. yard engine, tender and two cars filled with cinder, plunged off a 15 foot trestle in Bond Hill near Cincinnati at 11:45 Saturday morning.

Frank Kaiser, 45, and married, who resided in Newtown, Ohio, was killed outright, his body being crushed beneath his engine.

Conductor E. Kincaid, of New- town, was buried beneath a car of cinder. When dug out he was found to be suffering from internal injuries and his right foot was mashed. He will recover, physicians say.

A. E. Cramer, brakeman on the train, and a brother of A. A. Cramer of the Hayes Lumber company, of this city, jumped and escaped with bruises. The fireman also escaped by jumping.

The wreck, it is believed, resulted from some one tampering with a switch lock. The lock of a switch was found near the wreck scene. When the engine and two cars reached this switch the fact that it had been unlocked permitted the engine to reach the trestle instead of taking a siding and before Engineer Kaiser could halt his train the engine and cars plunged over the end of the trestle known as Earl's Trestle. The engine and cars were piled up in a heap in a Bond Hill street and Conductor Kincaid had a miraculous escape from meeting the same fate of his engineer.

The N. & W. wrecking crew at Clare and a wrecking crew from the Big Four were hurried to the scene and are clearing it up.

At division headquarters of the N. & W. in East Portsmouth Saturday afternoon it was stated that a rigid investigation would be made as to the cause of the wreck. All of the trainmen, who figured in the wreck are well known in Portsmouth and along this division of the N. & W.

5,000 Women Working Throughout Canada In Munition Plants

Ottawa, Jan. 20.—Canadian women "are doing their bit" in munition factories and doing it well. There are five thousand women workers, according to estimates compiled today, who are helping make the shells which England and her allies and Dominions are hurling against the German lines. And today—comes the "romper suit" for women. That is, "rompers" like children wear, is the article of clothing that most nearly approaches the style of a garment which Canadian manufacturers are preparing for their women employees. Canada has the overalls which sisters are wearing in England. The designers of the new habit think it will not only be popular in the machine shop and fuse room, but in the kitchen as well.

THE MARKETS

NEW YORK STOCKS

FINANCIAL REVIEW

New York, Jan. 20.—The New York Evening Sun financial review today says:

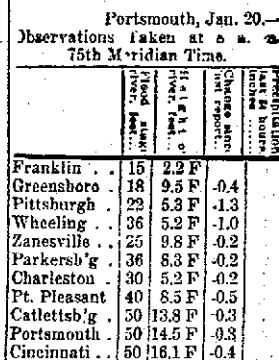

Save for a few strong specialties like Montana Power, Columbia Gas and so on, today's short session of the stock market was listless to a degree and quite devoid of interest. Price changes in the industrial list were of an indifference whatever and the railroad shares were almost wholly neglected.

Reading made but small fractional gains in very restricted sales. United States Steel rose and dipped within narrow limits. Bethlehem Steel made an early gain of ten points but later sold down five points or more before Friday.

The shipping and motor shares were in full demand at substantial advances. Trading was somewhat more animated in the late session with odds and ends of market settlement among traders to be adjusted. The shipping shares made additional gains on good earnings report. Marine common sold in the neighborhood of 33 and the preferred at 53. Numerous specialties such as Ohio Cities Gas, Lonestate Mining, Sears-Roback, Diamond Match, Columbian American Sugar and others were in fair demand at advancing prices.

Bonds were firm and relatively active. Steel was off half at 11 in an irregular market at the stock exchange opening today. Corn products held at 21, up 1/4; American Smelting 107 1/2, up 1/4; Utah 106 1/2, off 1/4; China 55, off 1/4. Bethlehem Steel

And He Said "Go Ahead And Try Nerv-Worth"—Results
Wonderful

Here is a remarkable neighborhood statement:

"About a year ago I commenced feeling badly and steadily grew worse. My nervous system seemed exhausted, felt tired all the time, was hardly able to do my work and had no appetite. I could sleep very little at night and suffered pain in my back, towards the left side. My doctor finally told me, after I had asked him if it would be all right, to go ahead and try Nerv-Worth, as my neighbors all wanted me to try it, several of them stating they had taken it with wonderful results. I got a bottle, commenced taking it, and began to feel better at once. I took two bottles and can truthfully say they made a new woman of me. ALL MY ACHES AND PAINS ARE GONE. I sleep fine, digestion good, and feel fine in every way, thanks to this wonderful remedy. I can not say too much in praise of it and will gladly recommend it to my friends."

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, O. Office Phone 80.

Now Dolly do you think a girl ought to except jewelry as a present from a gentleman. Now Dolly please answer in tonight's Times as I am anxious to know.

A READER.
Do you want her to return them so he can give them to you? It isn't exactly proper for girls to accept jewelry from men other than their fiancés, but they do it every day in the year and I presume always will. The jewelry stores would have to go out of business if it wasn't for people buying presents. If the man wants the presents let him go after them. Don't worry your little head about them.

A CORN GROWER.
The prize hasn't been awarded as yet. The Times has been unable to hear from all the contestants, although they have been repeatedly urged to send returns to this office. As soon as we hear from all those participating in contest the $50 will be awarded the winner.

Dear Dolly—I have been going with a fellow for quite a while and I am 21 years of age. He treats me very nice. I am very quiet. He tells me he loves me and I think very much of him. He takes me down the street and we are always back by 9 o'clock. Now Dolly do you think he cares for me and if he should ask me to marry him what should I say?

WANT-TO-KNOW.
Ask your parents to help you decide this important question.

Dear Dolly—I want your honest opinion of this. There was a girl went with a fellow every since spring and before Xmas they had a falling out and she coaxed him back and for Xmas he got her a lavalier and right after Xmas she canned him and she also has a ring of his. Now Dolly don't you think if you had no use for the fellow that you would return his presents. She is a country girl.

Dear Dolly—How much does Uncle Sam owe?

OH YOU KID.
The bonded debt of the United States is 972 million dollars.

Dear Dolly—Do you know of any work a housekeeper could get to do of afternoons or sewing work during the week home.

A HOUSEKEEPER.
Please send name and address or phone number in case I have any replies to your letter.

Thank You, Wheelersburg—It was perfectly all right for you to write the card and sign your own name to it. I don't believe I'd write a special letter thanking the other person for the picture. However, you might write a letter telling her all the news and at the same time you might mention the picture. The person writing the letter should sign their name so the one receiving it will know where to send a reply.

Dear Miss Wise—Please give me the recipe for to make invisible ink in tonight's paper.

J. A.
I haven't any recipe for invisible ink.

Dear Miss Wise—How much

Miss Helen Hermas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hermas, of Cincinnati, is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hermas, on Scioto Trail.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark W. Selby will arrive home tomorrow after a week's visit in New York.

The Hamilton Whist Club will meet next Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Henry T. Bannan.

An interesting meeting of the New Century Club was held Friday afternoon, forty-six ladies being present.

The program consisted of music and studies in "American Literature."

Two excellent papers, "Literature of the Revolution," by Mrs. W. D. Gilliland, and "American Historians—Prescott, Motley and Parkman"—by Miss Ethel Musser, were supplemented by interesting talks by the writers.

Two beautiful solos by Mrs. Roy Lynn, and piano selections by Miss Margaret Stahler, were much enjoyed.

Mrs. Floyd Fuller read "A Tribute to Irving," by James Russell Lowell.

The resignation of Mrs. Wm. M. Briggs as president for the ensuing year was accepted, and Mrs. W. S. Walker was elected to serve another term as president of the club.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. R. B. Cunningham, February 2nd.

Miss Henrietta Wolfe entertained a few of her friends Thursday evening as a farewell favor to Mrs. Frank DeLoell (Pearl Campbell) who will leave soon for Warren, O., where her husband has taken a position in the steel plant. She received many pretty and useful presents, and after a very pleasant evening her friends departed for home, offering her best wishes and good luck on her journey.

A jolly sleighing party drove as far as the Five Mile church last evening, after which they went to the home of Miss Dorothy Varner, where a Dutch lunch was served. The party included Misses Dorothy Varner, Elizabeth Mingo, Julia Alger, Josephine Clare, Fannie Dragan, Messrs. Earl Clayton, Luther Jaynes, Louis Bannan, Glen Edwards and Carl Windle.

Pain for Years

"I suffered for years with a pain in my left side and dragging feelings," says Mrs. Sarah Boggs, of Winnipeg, Mo., "and was almost unable to stand on my feet. I couldn't sleep nights, and had smothering spells. Had a pain in my head and back, and I took medicines till I got out of heart. I commenced using Cardui, the woman's tonic. With a record of over 50 years of success, isn't it reasonable to suppose Cardui will help you, too? Give it a trial."

THE TIMES BUILDERS' PAGE!

Winter In All It's Fierceness Now Here

Use Electricity For Heat and Light--Cheerfulness Assured

While some few people like the Winter season, others shudder to think of what it has in store for them! One thing sure, and that is there will be less daylight than in Summer—the days are short, the nights are long. Hence the light question should receive due consideration at this time of the year—preparedness is the forword!

From a personal standpoint we want to say that one of the chief questions that should be uppermost in your mind is regarding light—light for the home, light for the office, light for the factory. Solve the problem quickly and correctly by installing electric service.

Electric Service is the finest, the best, safest and most economical—no one can gainsay that, when comfort and convenience are taken into consideration.

Electricity requires no fussing or scratching around—it is always on the job, instantaneous and economical. No "fooling around" to get it ready for action. Electricity is the healthiest light on earth. It does not draw dirt—one big point in its favor. Then there is no flicker—it radiates with uniformity and is as near like sunlight as human ingenuity can devise.

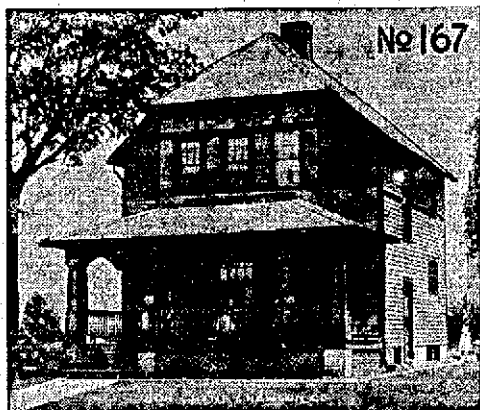

You deserve the best in your home. No home is complete—it is of a truth, sadly deficient in its best and most necessary appointment when it lacks electric service.

If you own a home, you owe it to your good wife to give her what she deserves and desires—electric service, and you are under no less obligation to her if you rent a home.

Yours to serve,

A SMALL SIX-ROOM HOUSE—By John Henry Newson

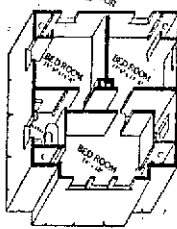

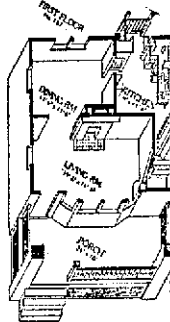

"Home Of Character, No. 167"

The exterior of this house is carried out in ordinary lap siding up to the sills of the second floor windows, and above this point shingles have been used, which are stained brown, and the siding is painted white as is also all of the trimmings. The foundation is built of concrete block and the roof is of slate. The house is distinctive in character, gained by the hip roof on the porch and by the hip roof feature over the central bay on the front.

The general plan is very similar to No. 165 and shows the variation of exteriors possible with a single type of plan. A number of houses may have the same floor plan and yet look entirely different to a passerby.

This house has been built for $2000 to $2500 under average conditions.

All Times readers desiring further information address "John Henry Newson, Homes of Character Dept., The Times". Give house number always.

FATHER IS ACCUSED OF ATTACKING DAUGHTER

LIONS AND THE LAMBS ALL "LYIN'"
TOGETHER, SAYS SENATOR TREMPER

"Yes, the lions and the lambs are 'lying' together." You may make your own interpretation of who are the lions, and who are the lambs, and whether "lying" means peaceful sleep or the ugly word which puts statements and near-statements in Roosevelt's Ananias Club, but the fact remains, according to Senator W. D. Tremper, that in the Ohio Senate the Republican and Democratic members are at peace among themselves and are good friends. There is a spirit of co-operation, he says, which will mean much for this session of the legislature.

"The Democrats have been too good to us Republicans," said Senator Tremper. "They are showing a spirit of co-operation and we have been returning it. I don't believe that there will be any strife between the minority and the majority parties this session."

"On the first day there were 27 bills introduced. The clerk is now and the lieutenant governor is now and they have not gotten over the embarrassment yet. But nine of the members of the Senate are experienced. I told some of them the other day that the workings of the senate squeaked and needed some axle grease.

"Of course, it is humorous now but they will soon have things in good shape. Just for an example, the clerk the other day started to read the contents of every bill. This is never done. Just the title is read, then the next day each member has a copy of the bill in his possession to study. It may take a week or several weeks before the bill comes up for action. By this time every member is familiar with the contents of the bill.

"They got together though and the long-distance reading stopped."

Charged with attacking his own daughter, Eolda May Arrasmith, aged 15, her father, Charles Arrasmith, aged 40, unaware that a warrant had been issued for his arrest, was sleeping soundly in his little four-room home ten miles northeast of Seaman, Adams county, Friday night, when Mayor Ezra Young, of Seaman, called armed with a warrant.

It had been signed and sworn to by his own daughter, who has kept house for her father since the death of her mother some time ago.

According to Mayor Young, Arrasmith offered no resistance and dressing hurriedly as he could, and accompanied the official to Seaman, where he was lodged in jail.

Arrasmith is well known in the vicinity of Seaman and stoutly denies the charge. The news of his arrest on so serious a charge, caused a sensation in Seaman and that vicinity.

According to a statement made by Eolda Arrasmith, her father attacked her three months ago and since that time she told Mayor Young that she had been at his mercy.

When her father started to whip her Thursday she left home and went to the home of an uncle. Relatives stood agast when Eolda, a pretty dark-eyed, dark-haired girl, tearfully told her story. They immediately insisted that she file a warrant for her father's arrest and after being driven to Seaman early last night, she signed the warrant. It was then that the man hunt was commenced. Failing to get any trace of Arrasmith in Seaman, Mayor Young drove to his home, ten miles northeast of that village, finding his man there, placed him under arrest.

"It is one of the worst cases in the history of Adams county, and I am going to the bottom of it," Mayor Young told a Times reporter over the telephone Saturday morning.

Arrasmith is a well known farmer and is said to have relatives in the northwestern part of Scioto county.

DENTISTS FORMULA

CALOMEL

Vegetable calomel, extract of the root of the old-fashioned may-apple plant, does not irritate. As a liver stimulator, it's great. It's a perfect substitute for ordinary calomel (mercury); in fact, it's better, because its action is gentle instead of severe and irritating—and it leaves no mean, disagreeable after-effects. Physicians recognize this and prescribe may-apple root (purgative) in their daily. Combined with four other standard, all-vegetable remedies, may-apple root may now be had at most any druggist's in convenient sugar-coated tablet form by asking for Senreco Laxatives. If you forget the name, ask for the box that has the picture of the soldier on it. These tablets are small, easy to take and are really wonderful little performers. They quickly clean out the poisons that are causing you headache, constipation, sour stomach, biliousness, dizzy spells, bad breath and coated tongue. They are mild. They never grip. And they are a bowel tonic as well as a cleanser and liver regulator. A 10c box should last one several weeks. A Physician's trial package (or doses) will be mailed you free if you write mentioning this advertisement. The Senreco Remedies Co., 202 Madison Ave., Covington, Ky.

Although the severe cold weather and icy streets kept down the attendance somewhat the meeting of Vienna Auxiliary of Vienna Camp Sons of Veterans Friday evening was one of the best held for many weeks. The following ladies were installed in office to have charge of the auxiliary this year, their terms expiring Jan. 1, 1918. Capt. George S. Carroll was installing officer and Deputy County Treasurer Gilbert F. Dodds was assistant master of ceremonies.

Past president, Mrs. Harry Eichorn; president, Mrs. Cary Riggs; vice president, Mrs. Chas. C. Bennett; treasurer, Mrs. Henry F. Fairtrace; secretary, Mrs. John R. Skelton; chaplain, Mrs. W. Floyd Unger; guide, Mrs. Harry Eichorn; delegates to division camp at Akron in June, Mrs. Mary M. Robe and Mrs. Libbie Ball.

The trustees will be elected at next meeting and minor staff officers and standing committees appointed by the new president.

Past Capt. Chas. C. Bennett was named as judge advocate and Capt. Carroll installed Judge Bennett into his office.

The retiring president, Mrs. Eichorn, has served two full terms and made a most enviable record. After the business meeting the ladies served a dainty banquet. All the good things and piping good hot coffee like mother used to make. During the social meeting Charlie Bennett, assisted by his charming wife, did some "mysteries" with coins, pencils, matches, etc., that would have made the late renowned Hermann turn green with envy had he witnessed the show.

WILL CO-OPERATE TO FORM TAX LAW

One of the main features of the annual meeting of the members of the Ohio Manufacturers' Association, which adjourned Friday at Columbus was the discussion of a new tax law for the state. Frank V. Knauss, who attended the meeting, said Friday night that Governor James M. Cox and members of the legislature had shown a willingness to co-operate with the manufacturers on a non-partisan basis, in drafting a new tax law.

Delegates from most every city and town in the state and from several other states attended this meeting, which was held at the Deshler hotel.

Those attending the meeting from here were: George D. Selby, Frank V. Knauss, John Peckles, S. C. Peckles, Judge A. Z. Blair and Frank M. Buggs.

HAIR COMING OUT?

Dandruff causes a feverish irritation of the scalp, the hair roots shrink, loosen and then the hair comes out fast. To stop falling hair at once and rid the scalp of every particle of dandruff, get a 25-cent bottle of Danderine at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub it into the scalp. CHILD'S TONGUE BECOMES COATED IF CONSTIPATED

If Croes, Bilious, Sick, Feverish, or Full of Cold, Take No Chances

"California Syrup of Figs" Can't Harm Tender Stomach, Liver, Bowels

Children love this "fruit laxative," and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver and bowels so nicely.

A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowels, and the result is, they become tightly clogged with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour, then your little one becomes cross, half sick, feverish, don't eat, sleep or act naturally, breath is bad, system full of cold, has sore throat, stomach ache or diarrhoea. Listen! Mother! See if tongue is coated, then give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the system, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers give "California Syrup of Figs" because it is perfectly harmless; children love it, and it never fails to act on the stomach, liver and bowels.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

To Try For Big Gain

Portsmouth Camp, Modern Woodmen of America, unanimously passed a resolution at the regular meeting Friday night to reach the 1,000 mark by July 1, 1917. The resolution went through with a whoop and a shout and the members pledged themselves to see that it was reached, if possible, by June 1.

The camp right now is in splendid shape, both financially and numerically. The present roster shows 937 members and it will be necessary to gain membership at the rate of 17 per month, if the mark is reached by June 1. That the members can accomplish this feat goes without saying, for they are alive to the interest of their institution and will work untiringly to reach the goal.

Louis A. Zuecker, one of the biggest Woodmen in the city, was installed as Venerable Consul last night and in his inaugural address pointed out many ways in which the institution could be made to grow. He is insistent that the officers do their part, and in order to whip things in shape and get ready for a whirlwind campaign, suggested a meeting of the officers at the home of William Kiff, newly elected watchman, Washington street, next Thursday night. Every member of the official family is asked to be present. This includes deputies, trustees—in fact every officer, whether elected or appointed.

One of the happy occasions last night was the appointing of William Bradley as chief forester. Mr. Bradley has been a member of the team for a good many years, and his appointment was joyously received by the camp.

The Portsmouth Camp, M. W. of A., is facing a very successful year. The members are called upon to be faithful in attendance and to stand back of the officers in their efforts to put the camp where it belongs—right out in front of all camps in the U. S. A.

Two candidates will be initiated on next Friday night—and the new ritual will be followed to the last letter.

New York, Jan. 20.—Henri I. Farrier, who speaks ten languages, including the Scandinavian, and has travelled 180,000 miles hither and thither, did not on his world travels learn until he reached New York that the first thing one must do before one takes one's dog out is to muzzle it.

Henri was arrested in Harlem for failing to put anything more serious than medals on the Great Dane which follows him on his globe trot.
Henri himself resembled an explosion in a medal factory or John Philip Sousa, leading his band. He had medals all over him, and those that were left over were fastened to the Dane.

In explaining why he failed to obey the law he so interested the court that Magistrate Breen listened long and then wrote his name in the huge album carried by Henri, the un-weary. His credentials proved that he had been in every country on the globe and had an album acquaintance with every monarch who can write.

He explained that 150 dogs, which have accompanied him on his travels at various times have died and that twenty-four men who attempted to keep up with him on his travels have dropped dead. At this point the Magistrate signed the album, discharged the prisoner and adjourned the court. Leaving the court room, Henri sallied forth singing:
"It was Christmas on the Isthmus
Said the stranger with strabismus."

Anna Held back on Broadway is making those eyes again. Evidently Miss Held is tired of publicity, for in the good old days she used to take milk baths, walk on a carpet of flowers to the theatre and do other original stunts, but the other day she even refused to see a reporter.

Her new play has one smashing song hit which is sung to her by Henry Lewis. The chorus goes:
"What do you want to make those eyes at me for, when they don't mean what they say? They make me glad, they make me sad. They make me want a lot of things I've never had. So what do you want to foot around with me for? You lead me on and then you run away."

And, incidentally, the song gives Miss Held unusual opportunity to roll those marvelous eyes.

The Times says that the Rembrandt picture sold to John McCormack, the singer, goes by various titles. But, says the Times, "Portrait of a Man With a Black Beard in a High Broad-Brimmed Hat" is one that covers the subject descriptively. It must be a novel stunt to put a black-beard in a high, broad-brimmed hat.

Ten traffic policemen filed into a Sixth avenue pawnshop. In sixty seconds sixty persons were gathered in front of it, all anxious to know what was going to happen in a case like that.

The ten uniformed men filed out again, looked curiously at the throng and walked away. They had been cashing their pay checks, a thing customarily done in pawnshops.

The pawnbrokers have the money,
the number on the policeman's cap establishes the ownership of the check and the favor is appreciated.

The checking room attendants at the Waldorf had stopped several times to look into the little animal handbag with the grating window ends. Someone had checked it early in the day and there didn't seem to be enough noise coming from it.

Finally one of the girls decided to open the bag and look into it. "If it's dead," she said, "someone ought to be notified."

The bag was cautiously opened.
Inside resting quite still was a copy of a sombre magazine. "It's dead," said the girl, "but we don't have to notify anyone. Everybody knows it."

THE FAITHFUL SENTINELS

A resolution has been offered in the New York legislature, providing that on the introduction of a measure, the clerk of the house or the senate, as the case may be, shall promptly send a printed copy of it to every newspaper in the state.

No, this is not a favor to the press; nor is it inclined to so regard it. The declared purpose behind it is to benefit the people. Much valuable legislation is slipped through because there is no publicity concerning it. The resolution would provide for this publicity, the idea of the author being that among the many editors receiving proposed bills there would always be some to detect what was evil and sound the alarm. For one we would hate to be doomed to read all the fool things projected into every assembly, but at that we are prone to regard the particular resolution as a wise one and would most heartily move its adoption if assured the expense would be saved a thousand times over by the legislators will, as a condition precedent, as the lawyers say, and their usual purchase of statute books, state histories and public-printed biographies of themselves.
Otherwise not, for we are of a sort of vengeful disposition and feel half the time the voters have it coming to them, considering the sort of legislators they insist and persist on electing and it is unfair to keep our faithful sentinels ever vigilant watching out for their interests when they have gone contrary to our sage and unselfish advice.

As is always the case the bankrupted Republican party, both national and state, is quarrelling over who shall be appointed receiver.

Uncle Sam has caught the contagion. He has raised the pay of all workers in the navy yards.

For unquestioning gallantry towards the fair sex commend us to the Roanoke World-News. In the suffragettes, who are picketing the White House with banner and badge, it sees the same patriotic devotion and sacrifice that animated the sentinels, who guarded Valley Forge with gun and sword. All the same we wonder if the World-News would like for the wife and daughter of a certain editor to be thus spectating themselves.

President Charles W. Dahney, of the Cincinnati university, wants an American college founded in Mexico. He must think insurrections and bullfights are not in it for slaughter with football.

The flag has been hoisted over the late Danish Islands in the Gulf of Mexico, or at least will be when the price is paid over. Long may she float.

The allies are going to give Greece a new king. Perhaps, that is all right. The present king doesn't know any more what to do with Greece than Greece knows what to do with him.

Seeing a gang of men day after day shoveling the snow from the tracks we are not ready to claim that running a street railway with an abnormal plentitude of snow is an easier job than running a newspaper with an abnormal scarcity of paper. However, if the railway is as well pleased with the operation of the paper as the paper is with that of the railway both may tickle themselves that they have the right men in the right place.

Council says the police force shall be cut; Mayor Kaps says it shall not. May be we'll learn who is who in running this man's town until next election.

Gazing in amazement, but not in objection, to the manner in which council has pared appropriations, we find it clear enough that it believes the way to retrench is to retrench.

As the lady next door put it, it is just perfectly delightful the way this big snow is going off. Yes, about as gently as it came down and so as it snowed for four consecutive days so may we have four days of such judicious vanishment.

According to the explanation of a rude contemporary the reason why some women age slowly is that they drop a birthday now and then.

For unselfish statesmanship commend us to Representative Bill Sprague, who voted for Ironton as the site of the navy armor plant and incidentally gave his own home town the go-by.

More iron ore was carried upon the lakes during 1916 than in any other one year. But why mention so often the fearful destruction Democratic free trade is working upon our industry and commerce.

Our trade with Latin America has grown by $151,000 in a year.
Not much, 'tis true, considering how our foreign commerce goes and grows, but still not to be sneezed at and encouraging.

We guess you can't change a newspaper any more than a certain animal can change its spots. When Grant was hammering at Richmond the Virginian papers were demonstrating how the Yankees could never win and today, from a safer distance these same papers have an altogether clear and cheery view of how the allies are proceeding to clean up on the Teutons.

PRIZE SHIP YARROWDALE TAKEN TO A GERMAN PORT

Teutonic Crew Slips Through Allies' Cordon; Prize Carried Munitions And 469 Prisoners

Berlin, Jan. 20.—(Via Amsterdam to London).—The British steamer Yarrowdale was brought into harbor on December 31, as a prize by a crew of sixteen men, says an official statement issued last night. She carried 469 prisoners, the crews of steamers captured by a German auxiliary cruiser in the Atlantic ocean.

The prisoners on the Yarrowdale were from one Norwegian and seven British vessels. The cargoes of the captured vessels, the statement adds, consisted principally of war material from the entente allies and foodstuffs.

Three of the vessels sunk were armed British merchantmen.

The bringing in of the Yarrowdale, the statement continues, had been kept secret for military reasons, but in view of the statement of the British admiralty on January 17, it was decided to make the news public. The prize crew of the Yarrowdale was commanded by Deputy Officer Badewitz.

The official statement follows:

"The English steamer Yarrowdale, of 4,600 tons, was brought into the harbor on the 31st of December as a prize by prize crew of sixteen men. She had aboard 469 prisoners, namely the crews of one Norwegian and seven British ships which were captured by one of our auxiliary cruisers in the Atlantic ocean.

"The cargoes of the captured vessels consisted principally of war material from America and foodstuffs, including 6,000 tons of wheat, 2,000 tons of flour and 1,000 horses. The Yarrowdale had on board 117 motor lorries, one motor car, 6,300 cases of rifle cartridges, 3,000 rolls of barbed wire and 3,200 steel bars, besides a large quantity of meat, bacon and sausages.

Three Ships Armed

"Of the vessels sunk, three of the British were armed. Among the crews of the captured vessels are 103 subjects of neutral states, who, as well as enemy subjects, have been removed as prisoners of war, insofar as they had taken part in armed enemy vessels. The commander of the prize is Deputy Officer Badewitz.

"The bringing in of the Yarrowdale has been kept secret up to this time for military reasons, which in view of the British admiralty's statement of January 17, are no longer operative.

"It is noteworthy that the British admiralty resolved to announce to the British public those losses which date from some considerable time back, only when losses were made known to the neutral world by the arrival of the Japanese prize, Hudson Maru, in a Brazilian harbor."

(Copyright 1917, United Press)
Buenos Aires, Jan. 20.—Pigamy submarines—18 feet in length—are carried by the German raider which has wrought such damage to allied shipping in Atlantic waters.

The captain of the captured British steamer Netherby Hall, among those landed at Pernambuco from the German prize ship, Hudson Maru, was authority for this statement today.

"There are three submarines carried by the raider," he said, in an interview at Pernambuco. "They are capable of operation over a small radius and are equipped with torpedoes, dynamite and ammunition."

Such additional details as this indicating the typical German thoroughness with which the raider was prepared and equipped led shipping circles to predict a long chase by allied warships before the sea scourge is cornered. Certainly she had not been definitely located today, according to dispatches at South American ports—and this despite the fact that a big fleet of warships is now literally raking the ocean for her. Wireless dispatches received today said that the auxiliary British cruiser Macedonia and Orana had arrived off Pernambuco.

The most detailed description of the German raider yet given was revealed by the captain of the Netherby Hall, in dispatches from Pernambuco.

"I began calling for help by wireless the moment I sighted the raider," he said. "I kept this up until a shot across the bows of my ship showed it was useless for me to try to escape. The raider was equipped with several machine guns in addition to her cannon and in addition carried three submarines about six meters (1874 feet) long, capable of being operated over a small radius and equipped with torpedoes, dynamite and ammunition."

"I would put the raider's speed at 22 knots—and she always traveled at top speed during the daytime. At night she slowed up but her engine crew was always held in readiness to jam on her full speed."

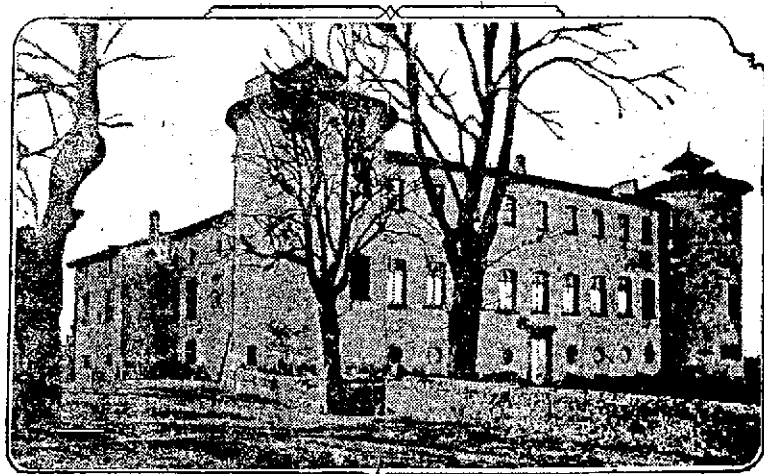

Additional description from the captain of the Radnorshire today gave these new details of his experience, further indicating the raider had converted one of her prizes into another commerce destroyer.

"Another ship was constantly with the raider. The captain of the vessel which captured us—which was the raider herself, was most considerate.

"I am delighted that you did not resist us," he told me, "otherwise I would have been compelled to shoot you and your ship to pieces."

"Immediately after our capture, this commander told me he expected the captured Hudson Maru within a few days and would put prisoners aboard her."

5,000 WOMEN WORKING IN MUNITION PLANTS THROUGHOUT CANADA

Ottawa, Jan. 20.—Canadian women "are doing their bit" in dropped out. Some didn't like munition factories and doing it the grim and dirt. But forty of the original number stuck. Then Canadian women awoke to the necessity for munitions and real and earnest workers started to pour in applications.

Most of them have stuck right on the job. They have proven careful, efficient, steady, reliable and, in many cases, better at work requiring delicate workmanship than men. No heavy labor is attempted. The chief work which the women do is on primers, time fuses, in assembling, sorting and packing. On some of these operations measurements to the thousandth part of an inch are required. The women are paid from $10 to $22 a week—just as much as men workers in similar places.

The plants where they work are airy and well lighted. In some places the Y. W. C. A. and W. C. T. U. and other organizations have established buffets where meals are served at reasonable prices.

When Mark Irish, director of labor of the Imperial Munitions Board, first broached the possibility of having women work in munition factories, Canadian shell makers declared it was "impossible" because they couldn't be found.

"Why, God bless 'em," Director Irish replied, "we are deluged with them and I'm asking women on the waiting list not to get discouraged."

The Canadian plan is a "dilution of labor," not replacement of women for men in plants, but introduction of feminine workers so that male labor can be spread over a greater time and a greater number of machines.

Four hundred women entered the factories at first. Some of these, of the leisure class, found their French heels didn't fit in the factories.

Questioning me about the whereabouts of the steamship Araguaya the German officer said "Don't be afraid—I'm only destroying ships. I am not killing women and children."

Missing Aviators Found Exhausted

SWISS RESERVISTS ARE ORDERED HOME

Washington, Jan. 20.—Swiss Minister Ritter, acting on instructions from his home government, today issued orders through Swiss Consuls in America, that all reservists on conditional leave are ordered home immediately.

At the same time Minister Ritter was ordered to issue these instructions, he received notification that three additional Swiss army corps are to be mobilized on January 24.

Dr. Ritter said today his government's dispatch declared Switzerland had no fear of any hostile move by either group of belligerents.

The new troops, he believed, are to be used to relieve part of the two army corps now mobilized, it was said.

London reports have recently mentioned massing of large German forces on the Swiss frontier and fear was expressed that Switzerland's neutrality might be violated.

Wellton, Ariz., Jan. 20.—Lieutenant Colonel Harry G. Bishop and Lieutenant W. A. Robertson, Jr., missing aviators, exhausted from walking four days in the wilds of Sonora, Mexico, without food or water, were found yesterday more than 200 miles south of the border by a civilian searching party from Wellton.

Lieutenant Robertson was brought back here today by the searchers. Lieutenant Colonel Bishop, too weak to walk, was left in charge of four searchers in the Rosario mountains where he was found last night at ten o'clock.

Two sandwiches and two oranges are all the food the men had tasted since they left the North Island aviation base at San Diego, January 10, on their flight. Robertson told the searchers. The only water they had was taken from the radiator of the aeroplane, Robertson said, and it was exhausted four days ago.

Robertson was found yesterday and was following the tracks of the "automobile" of the searching party. He was trailing the base of the Gila mountains 200 miles south of the border. He directed the searching party to Rosario mountains 30 miles farther south, where he said he had left Bishop the day before. Bishop had become exhausted and unable to walk.

Leaving Robertson in charge of two of the searchers, other members of the party pressed southward and found Bishop lying on the ground in a mountain pass. He was unable to talk, and barely able to recognize the searchers. Robertson said the members of the searching party were the first human beings he had seen since he landed. He was unable to give definite information as to the district wherein they landed, but thought it was 250 miles or more south of the Arizona border.

Members of the party who took charge of Bishop are expected to arrive here tomorrow. The searchers said neither of the men was delirious when found.

and 3, the result being the Bald Eagles grabbed a couple. The Rexalls had but two men present in the first two games and, perhaps, would have been much better off had Will Haebeck remained for the last struggle. Fact is that Haebeck hit 'em pretty good, but the platoon taken things split like a hickory log. Hence a score of 88.

Patton got 191 for a starter and then did down the hill and couldn't get back. Merle Budant saved the 17th game for the Rexalls when he got 176.

Plan Home For Disabled Players

Chicago, Jan. 20.—A home for aged and disabled baseball players supported jointly by the teams of the American and National leagues, is the movement that is being inaugurated by President E. W. Johnson. The American league director today discussed the plan and stated that he would take it up immediately with the clubs in his league, to see if a scheme, whereby each club would set aside a certain sum each season, to be used for the support of the institution, could be worked out.

The old home idea is the outcome of the yearly recurring discussion as to what to do with the immense sum that are piling up as a result of each world series. Johnson is determined to cut down the amount that goes to the players and commission and even the amount that is turned into the major league chests. The latter is an assumption on the net earnings and goes to pay salaries and expense of league employees.

Huntington Team Plays Here Tonight

Tonight at 8 o'clock in the high school gym the P. H. S. five will play their big battle of the season, their opponents being the heavy and fast basket losers from Huntington, one of Portsmouth's most bitter rivals in all kinds of sport.

Huntington made P. H. S. how to her on the football field this season but the local basketball team means to wipe out these defeats by "cleaning up" on the up river city's high school basketball.

And then it came his time to roll again. "You're on a strike, Hutch," yelled the best little P. M. the village ever had. "Who knows that better than I?" yelled back the Cat Bird general. And then he shot. The ball probably went twenty feet down the alley and then debuted into the gutter. "Curses" muttered Mr. Hutchins. And then he shot again and that blank, blank, blanky, blank bulb did the same thing. And then the multitude yelled, holding his hand aloft, Mr. Hutchins said, "Boys, that's the $112! I shot it over made, but for heavens sake don't tell Jim Kelly." And there the matter rests.

THE FAITHFUL SENTINELS

A resolution has been offered in the New York legislature, providing that on the introduction of a measure, the clerk of the house or the senate, as the case may be, shall promptly send a printed copy of it to every newspaper in the state.

No, this is not a favor to the press, nor is it inclined to so regard it. The declared purpose behind it is to benefit the people. Much vicious legislation is slipped through because there is no publicity concerning it. The resolution would provide for this publicity, the idea of the author being that among the many editors receiving proposed bills there would always be some to detect what was evil and sound the alarm. For one we would hate to be doomed to read all the fool things projected into every assembly, but at that we are prone to regard the particular resolution as a wise one and would most heartily move its adoption if assured the expense would be saved a thousand times over by the legislators will, as a condition precedent, as the lawyers say, annul their usual purchase of statute books, state histories and public-printed biographies of themselves. Otherwise not, for we are of a sort of vengeful disposition and feel half the time the voters have it coming to them, considering the sort of legislators they insist and persist on electing and it is unfair to keep us faithful sentinels ever vigilant watching out for their interests when they have gone contrary to our sage and unselfish advice.

As is always the case the bankrupted Republican party, both national and state, is quarrelling over who shall be appointed receivers.

Uncle Sam has caught the contagion. He has raised the pay of all workers in the navy yards.

For unquestioning gullibility towards the fair sex commend us to the Roanoke World-News. In the suffragettes, who are picketing the White House with banner and badge, it sees the same patriotic devotion and sacrifice that animated the sentinels, who guarded Valley Forge with gun and sword. All the same we wonder if the World-News would like for the wife and daughter of a certain editor to be thus spectating themselves.

President Charles W. Dabney, of the Cincinnati university, wants an American college founded in Mexico. He must think instructions and bull-fights are not in it for slaughter with football.

The flag has been hoisted over the late Danish Islands in the Gulf of Mexico, or at least will be when the price is paid over. Long may she float.

Talking about carrying coal to Newcastle. That isn't a circumstance compared to the United States awarding a shell contract to a British firm these wild war times.

Council says the police force shall be cut; Mayor Kaps says it shall not. May be we'll learn who is who in running this man's town—until next election.

Gazing in amazement, but not in objection, to the manner in which council has pared appropriations, we find it clear enough that it believes the way to retrench is to retrench.

As the lady next door put it, it is just perfectly delightful the way this big snow is going off. Yes, about as gently as it came down and so as it snowed for four consecutive days so may we have four days of such judicious vanishment.

According to the explanation of a rude contemporary the reason why some women age slowly is that they drop a birthday now and then.

For unselfish statesmanship commend us to Representative Bill Sprague, who voted for Ironton as the site of the navy armor plant and incidentally gave his own home town the go-by.

More iron ore was carried upon the lakes during 1916 than in any other one year. But why mention so often the fearful destruction Democratic free trade is working upon our industry and commerce.

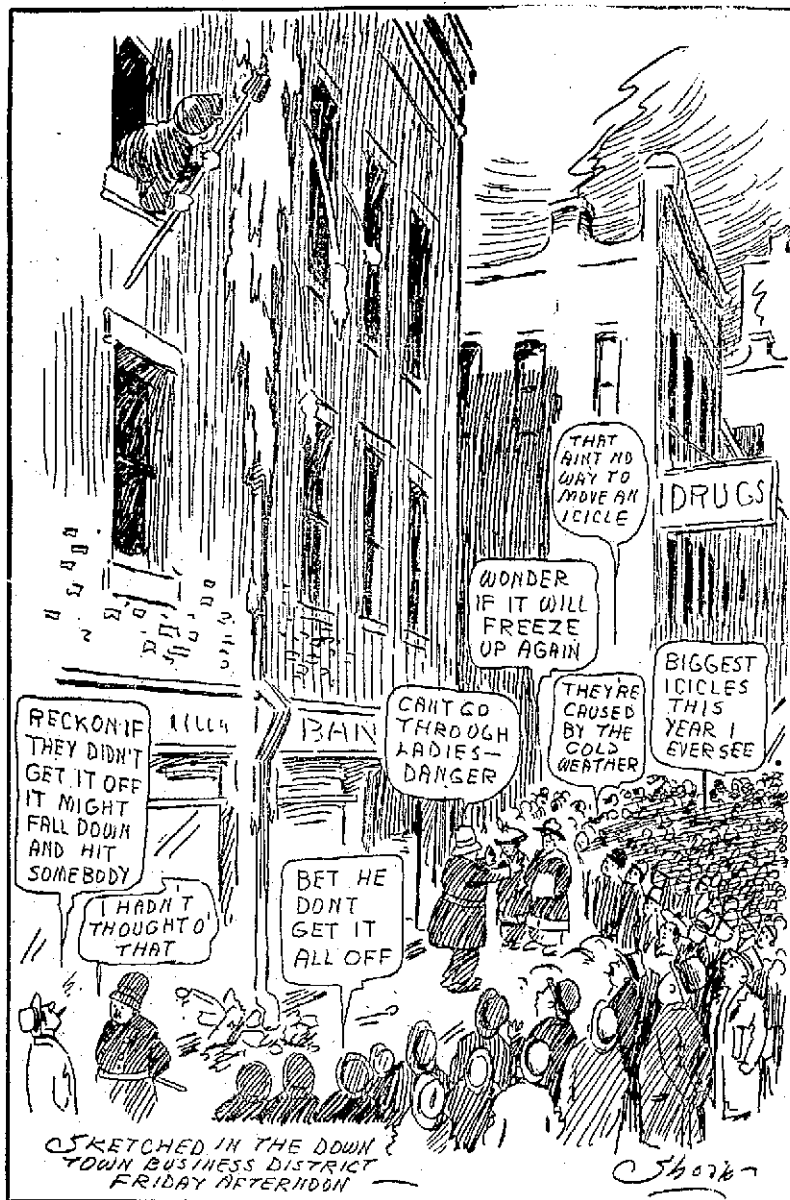

And the mercury didn't climb any higher than popular elation over a glimpse of the sun, the first in just a week.

Our trade with Latin America has grown by $154,000 in a year. Not much, 'tis true, considering how our foreign commerce goes and grows, but still not to be sneezed at and encouraging.

We guess you can't change a newspaper any more than a certain animal can change its spots. When Grant was hammering at Richmond the Virginia papers were demonstrating how the Yankees could never win and today, from a safer distance these same papers have an altogether clear and cheery view of how the allies are proceeding to clean up on the Tenthons.

From its formation to 1915 the expenses of the national government totalled in round numbers twenty-five million, five hundred million dollars. The debts of the European belligerents have risen to twice that sum and the end is not yet in sight anyway you look at it.

CITY LIFE

SKETCHED IN THE DOWNTOWN BUSINESS DISTRICT FRIDAY AFTERNOON

A WEDDING PRESENT

(From Wilmington Journal-Republican)

You might be interested in this dispatch from Dayton under the date of January 3:

"Miss Evelyn Huffman, daughter of Colonel Frank T. Huffman, president of the Davis Sewing Machine company, who is to be wedded to Frederick B. Patterson, son of John H. Patterson, president of the National Cash Register company, is the recipient of a wedding present from her father in the form of $25,000 in securities. The couple will spend their honeymoon in the Orient and will be away for six months. Until February 2 they will occupy a cottage in Honolulu. On their return home they will take possession of Mr. Patterson's handsome new home, now under construction in Fair Hills, on his father's estate."

How's that for getting a running start in the battle of life against the high cost of living? But we wonder if you feel about this the way we do.

We believe Evelyn and Fred would be just as happy during the next few years if they had to do like most of the rest of us—settle down to hard work and economy in order to get a start. Suppose Fred didn't have a millionaire father and Evelyn's dad was merely in comfortable circumstances, so far as she or Fred knew. They could live along happily on Fred's wages, say $25 a week, and be happy when an occasional raise in salary came. And we can't help thinking that it would have been a treat to the ears of the world to have waited a dozen or 15 years to learn the full story of how the girl's father, after waiting to see if Evelyn and Fred were going to make good, should have dropped around with Santa Claus at Christmas time and left the $25,000 in Evelyn's stocking, with a note saying, "Well, children, I guess you are made of the right sort of stuff and I am proud of you both. Having seen you come through the rough places, I am sure you will appreciate the little token of my love for you both—Father."

Of course, this is none of our business, you understand. We wish these folks all the happiness in the world and hope they will have a pleasant time in the cottage at Honolulu. And that they will get back, well and happy, to take up their new life on "father's estate," but all the while we will be thinking that Father Huffman has the wrong idea of how to promote happiness.

Seeing a gang of men day after day shoveling the snow from the tracks we are not ready to claim that running a street railway with an abnormal plentitude of snow is an easier job than running a newspaper with an abnormal security of paper. However, if the railway is as well pleased with the operation of the paper as the paper is with that of the railway both may tickle themselves that they have the right men in the right place.

The allies are going to give Greece a new king. Perhaps, that is all right. The present king doesn't know any more what to do with Greece than Greece knows what to do with him.

Club Will Meet Sunday

Portsmouth's recently organized dramatic club will meet Sunday afternoon at 2:30 in the office of Attorney Mark Crawford, 35 First National Bank building. Members have been unable to fix up the rooms in the Masonic Temple in time for the meeting, as planned. Several members of the Kitty Kirk Stock company, playing at the Sun theatre, will attend the meeting when important business will be transacted. Director Ben Voorhees urges all members to attend.

NEW-YORK-DAY-BY-DAY.

O.O. MCINTYRE.

New York, Jan. 20.—Henri I. Farnier, who speaks ten languages, including the Scandinavian, and has travelled 150,000 miles hither and thither, did not on his world travels learn until he reached New York that the first thing one must do before one takes one's dog out is to muzzle it.

Henri was arrested in Harlem for failing to put anything more serious than medals on his globe trot. Henri himself resembled an explosion in a medal factory or John Philip Sousa leading his band. He had medals all over him, and those that were left over were fastened to the Dane.

In explaining why he failed to obey the law he so interested the court that Magistrate Brown listened long and then wrote his name in the huge album carried by Henri, the unwary. His credentials proved that he had been in every country on the globe and had an album acquaintance with every monarch who can write.

He explained that 150 dogs, which have accompanied him on his travels at various times have died and that twenty-four men who attempted to keep up with him on his travels have dropped dead. At this point the Magistrate signed the album, discharged the prisoner and adjourned the court. Leaving the court room, Henry sallied forth singing:

"It was Christmas on the Isthmus
Said the stranger with strabismus."

Anna Held back on Broadway is making these eyes again. Evidently Miss Held is tired of publicity, for in the good old days she used to take milk baths, walk on a carpet of flowers to the theatre and do other original stunts, but the other day she even refused to see a reporter.

Her new play has one smashing song hit which is sung to her by Henry Lewis. The chorus goes: "What do you want to make those eyes at me for, when they don't mean what they say? They make me glad, they make me sad. They make me want a lot of things I've never had. So what do you want to foot around with me for? You lead me on and then you run away."

And, incidentally, the song gives Miss Held unusual opportunity to roll those marvelous eyes. The Times says that the Rembrandt picture sold to John McCormack, the singer, goes by various titles. But, says the Times, "Portrait of a Man With a Black Beard in a High Broad-Brimmed Hat" is one that covers the subject descriptively. It must be a novel stunt to put a black-beard in a high, broad-brimmed hat.

Ten traffic policemen filed into a Sixth avenue pawnshop. In sixty seconds sixty persons were gathered in front of it, all anxious to know what was going to happen in a case like that.

The ten uniformed men filed out again, looked curiously at the throng and walked away. They had been cashing their pay checks, a thing customarily done in pawnshops.

The pawnbrokers have the money, the number on the policeman's cap establishes the ownership of the check and the favor is appreciated.

The checking room attendants at the Waldorf had stopped several times to look into the little animal handbag with the grating window ends. Someone had checked it early in the day and there didn't seem to be enough noise coming from it. Finally one of the girls decided to open the bag and look into it. "If it's dead," she said, "someone ought to be notified."

The bag was cautiously opened. Inside resting quite still was a copy of a sombre magazine. "It's dead," said the girl, "but we don't have to notify anyone. Everybody knows it."

You accuse me, Orphan Annie
Of being somewhat slow;
But when I tell to you the fact
The whole wide world shall know

And I know they'll all agree with me
And say it is not true,
For I lost my own dear daddy
When I was only two.

But the dear Lord took my father
When I was a babe so true,
And if my tribute came too late
Don't place the blame on me.
For the tribute that I pay him
Is for every worth while dad
But I know my own dear daddy
Was the best one ever had.

Help! Reservoir Mystery! Where Did 'Them Water' Go?

Hilltop Was 'Dry' As Bone

Portsmouth is facing a mystery so profound and baffling, that it will probably remain unsolved for generations to come.

Sometimes within the past few days "eight feet and five inches" of water escaped from the new municipal reservoir. Where it went, or how it got out, no one has been able to ascertain. But it "got."

It was not learned about town that this pent-up, perished water escaped until Friday evening, when the good housewives on the hilltop and tenants in the big office buildings in the downtown district began filling every available vessel with water, for due warning was given that the pressure was "tickening and would probably die." It did.

But the pressure was resumed in the course of an hour.

Nothing was reported wrong at the municipal plant when a Times reporter called, except that the pumps which maintained the pressure to the city "were not operating well and would not deliver the water." At such times the water in the reservoir is supposed to do its duty. When the pressure is weak, the water from the storage strengthens it. It did not do this last night, and it became evident that the 8 1/2 feet of water had ignobly fled.

Just exactly where this "eight feet and five inches" of water, which was reported in the reservoir a few days ago, went to so suddenly, remains a profound mystery. There were no footprints about the big concrete reservoir that would indicate that this water had walked away. Nor were there any conspicuous leaks that would even suggest that it had crawled out in some manner.

A force of men from the General Service company worked at the new municipal pumping station all Friday night assisting with the work of installing the new electrically driven pump, which the city recently purchased from The Worthington Pump company, Cincinnati.

With this new pump, which has a capacity of 5,000,000 gallons per day, in operation, but little trouble is expected in filling the reservoir and maintaining an adequate pressure in the city mains.

The new pump was installed and placed in operation early Saturday morning. It was operated for a short time, then stopped, while some adjustments were being made to the other pumps.

The city pressure was reduced for about a half hour this morning, while the work was being done, then the new pump was started.

George P. Shute, hydraulic engineer, stated Saturday morning that there had not been any water in the reservoir Friday evening, but that there was a little in there this morning, the exact amount of which was not known.

Mayor H. H. Kaps personally supervised the installation of the new electrically driven pump. He went to the new municipal plant Friday afternoon, taking with him a force of men from the General Service company and remained at the pumping station until late Friday night.

The new pump was installed and in operation at 1:30 o'clock this morning.

FATHER IS ACCUSED OF ATTACKING DAUGHTER

Charged with attacking his own daughter, Eolda May Arrasmith, aged 15, her father, Charles Arrasmith, aged 40, unaware that a warrant had been issued for his arrest, was sleeping soundly in his little four-room house, ten miles northeast of Seaman, Adams county, Friday night, when Mayor Ezra Young, of Seaman, called armed with a warrant.

It had been signed and sworn to by his own daughter, who has kept house for her father since the death of her mother some time ago.

According to Mayor Young, Arrasmith offered no resistance and dressing hurriedly as he could, and accompanied the official to Seaman, where he was lodged in jail. Arrasmith is well known in the vicinity of Seaman and stoutly denies the charge. The news of his arrest on so serious a charge, caused a sensation in Seaman and that vicinity.

According to a statement made by Eolda Arrasmith, her father attacked her three months ago and since that time she told Mayor Young that she had been at his mercy.

When her father started to whip her Thursday she left home and went to the home of an uncle. Relatives stood aghast when Eolda, a pretty dark-eyed, dark-haired girl, tearfully told her story. They immediately insisted that she file a warrant for her father's arrest and after being driven to Seaman early last night, she signed the warrant. It was then that the man hunt was commenced. Failing to get any trace of Arrasmith in Seaman, Mayor Young drove to his home, ten miles northeast of that village, finding his man there, placed him under arrest.

"It is one of the worst cases in the history of Adams county, and I am going to the bottom of it," Mayor Young told a Times reporter over the telephone Saturday morning.

Arrasmith is a well known farmer and is said to have relatives in the northwestern part of Scioto county.

On December 15 it will be recalled that the laboring and tonnage employees of the Whitaker-Glessner company were given a wage increase of 10 percent.

LIONS AND THE LAMBS ALL "LYIN'" TOGETHER, SAYS SENATOR TREMPER

"Yes, the lions and the lambs are 'lying' together." You may make your own interpretation of who are the lions, and who are the lambs, and whether "lying" means peaceful sleep or the ugly word which puts statesmen and near-statesmen in Roosevelt's Ananias Club, but the fact remains, according to Senator W. D. Tremper, that in the Ohio Senate the Republican and Democratic members are at peace among themselves and are good friends. There is a spirit of co-operation, he says, which will mean much for this session of the legislature.

"The Democrats have been too good to us Republicans," said Senator Tremper. "They are showing a spirit of co-operation and we have been returning it. I don't believe that there will be any strife between the minority and the majority parties this session."

"On the first day there were 87 bills introduced. The clerk is new and the lieutenant governor is new and they have not gotten over the embarrassment yet. But nine of the members of the Senate are experienced. I told some of them the other day that the workings of the senate squeaked and needed some axle grease.

"Of course, it is humorous now but they will soon have things in good shape. Just for an example, the clerk the other day started to read the contents of every bill. This is never done. Just the title is read, then the next day each member has a copy of the bill in his possession to study. It may take a week or several weeks before the bill comes up for action. By this time every member is familiar with the contents of the bill.

"They got together though and the long-distance reading stopped."

Officers Installed By Vienna Auxiliary

Although the severe cold weather and icy streets kept down the attendance somewhat the meeting of Vienna Auxiliary of Vienna Camp Sons of Veterans Friday evening was one of the best held for many weeks. The following ladies were installed in office to have charge of the auxiliary this year, their terms expiring Jan. 1, 1918. Capt. George S. Carroll was installing officer and Deputy County Treasurer Gilbert F. Dadds was assistant master of ceremonies.

Past president, Mrs. Harry Eichorn; president, Mrs. Cary Higgs; vice president, Mrs. Chas. C. Bennett; treasurer, Mrs. Henry R. Fairbairn; secretary, Mrs. John R. Skelton; chaplain, Mrs. W. Floyd Unger; guide, Mrs. Harry Eichorn; delegates to division encampment at Akron in June, Mrs. Mary M. Robe and Mrs. Libbie Ball.

The trustees will be elected at next meeting and minor staff officers and standing committees appointed by the new president.

Past Capt. Chas. C. Bennett was named as judge advocate and Capt. Carroll installed Judge Bennett into his office.

The retiring president, Mrs. Eichorn, has served two full terms and made a most enviable record.

After the business meeting the ladies served a dainty banquet. All the good things and piping good hot coffee like mother used to make. During the social meeting Charlie Bennett, assisted by his charming wife, did some "mysteries" with coins, pencils, matches, etc., that would have made the late renowned Hermann turn green with envy had he witnessed the show.

Before adjourning the ladies voted to give a big turkey dinner and all the trimmings on the evening of Washington's birthday and there will be a short patriotic program and appropriate music.

will hold a meeting Monday evening to make arrangements for the minstrel, to set the date and the place it will be held. An effort will be made to secure the High School Auditorium for the two evenings, which the minstrel will be held.

The proceeds will be placed in the fund which is used to buy shoes for the needy poor children of the city.

Two men giving the names of John Ackerman, arrested by Officer Harding, and Dan Geygan, arrested by Officers Millhuff and Goodman, pleaded guilty to charges of drunkenness and were each fined $5.

GRAND JURY REPORTS

Ironton, O., Jan. 20.—The grand jury which has been in session since Monday, finished its work Friday afternoon and reported their finding to the court. Woodmen Of America To Try For Big Gain

Portsmouth Camp, Modern Woodmen of America, unanimously passed a resolution at the regular meeting Friday night to reach the 1,000 mark by July 1, 1917. The resolution went through with a whoop and a shout and the members pledged themselves to see that it was reached, if possible, by June 1.

The camp right now is in splendid shape, both financially and numerically. The present roster shows 937 names and it will be necessary to gain in membership at the rate of 17 per month, if the mark is reached by June 1. That the members can accomplish this feat goes without saying, for they are alive to the interest of their institution and will work untiringly to reach the goal.

Louis A. Zucker, one of the biggest Woodmen in the city, was installed as Venerable Consul last night and in his inaugural address pointed out many ways in which the institution could be made to grow. He is insistent that the officers do their part, and in order to whip things in shape and get ready for a whirlwind campaign, suggested a meeting of the officers at the home of William Kiff, newly elected watchman, Washington street, next Thursday night. Every member of the official family is asked to be present. This includes deputies, trustees-in-fact every officer, whether elected or appointed.

One of the happy occasions last night was the appointing of William Bradley as chief forester. Mr. Bradley has been a member of the team for a good many years, and his appointment was joyously received by the camp.

The Portsmouth Camp, M. W. of A., is facing a very successful year. The members are called upon to be faithful in attendance and to stand back of the officers in their efforts to put the camp where it belongs—right out in front of all camps in the U. S. A. Two candidates will be initiated on next Friday night—and the new ritual will be followed to the last letter.
